

Andy Kohn

Andrew Kohn is a Ponte Vedra resident with six years experience playing saxophone and two years of music/saxophone technician experience. For the past two years, Andrew has worked with Nease Band for marching band, concert band, and saxophone quartets for solo and ensemble. A graduate from Nease and current student at the University of North Florida, Andrew is pursuing a bachelors degree in mechanical engineering. With engineering knowledge and skills, Andrew provides minor repairs and adjustments to instruments during practices and before performances and can identify problems that music repair shops should address and handle. As well as taking to courses for his major, Andrew plays in the UNF Concert Band and attends saxophone masterclasses held by the UNF professor of saxophone. In his free time, Andrew writes and arranges music for saxophone ensembles.
